BLUEFIELD.

Population, 10,000. A prosperous city on the N & W Ry, in Mercer county, situated in the center of the richest coal fields of the State, 11 miles from Princeton, the county seat. Bluefield is the shipping headquarters for the Pocahontas, Flat Top, Tug River and Clinch Valley coal regions, making it a thriving business center. More coal is shipped via this city than any point in the State. There are located here 5 banks, 1 daily and 2 weekly papers, 5 hotels, a flouring mill, a brewery and a grain elevator, an extensive iron works and the railroad repair shops. These industries furnish employment to a great number of mechanics who are residents here. The city is lighted by electricity, has a modern sewerage system, local and long distance telephone service, 9 churches, a Y M C A, and excellent tree and private schools. Bluefield is a distributing point for an extensive mining territory and a large wholesale and jobbing business is transacted, covering nearly every branch of trade. A great quantity of lumber is manufactured and a large supply of building material is annually placed upon the market. The growth of the city has been rapid and it promises to become a shipping and manufacturing point of note. It is the headquarters of three divisions of N & W Ry. Exp, Southern. Tel, W U. BUCKHANNON.

With 4,000 population, including South Buckhannon, which is a separate corporation, but in Buckhannon postal district, is located on the Buckhannon river and on the B & O R R, W Va & P division, in Upshur county, of which it is the county seat. It contains 10 churches, good schools, 4 banks, good hotels, and is provided with natural gas for heating and illuminating, has paved streets, electric lights and water works, and a handsome new court house, which cost upwards of $40,000. A new railroad, the Point Pleasant, Buckhannon & Tygarts Valley R R (a part of the B & O system) is nearing completion. It will connect with the Grafton & Belington R R, thus giving greater commercial facilities with all leading Northern and Eastern shipping points. The West Virginia Conference Seminary, now a college, is located here, and had an attendance last year of over five hundred students in all departments. Thorough and efficient courses are maintained in art, music, physical culture, elocution and business, in addition to the regular normal, scientific, classical and literary courses. This institution has been recently endowed to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, and will be greatly enlarged in the near future. A fine new opera house, with seating capacity of 1,000, was recently completed, at a cost of $15,000. The Buckhannon Board of Trade is composed of representative business and professional men, including bankers, merchants, doctors, lawyers, etc., who are working unselfishly for the growth and development of the town. Among the many business enterprises may be mentioned, 1 cut glass, 1 pressed glass and 1 window glass factory, an artificial ice plant, woolen mill, tannery, 2 brick yards, 2 flour mills, 1 planing mills, a private hospital, private sanitarium and 4 weekly newspapers. The large number of new buildings now being erected, and the constant activity in real estate circles, denotes a greater prosperity than has been seen here for years. CHARLESTON.

Population, 18,000. The capital of West Virginia and county seat of Kanawha county, is situated on the north bank of the Great Kanawha river at the mouth of the Elk. It was settled in 1787, but remained an obscure town till 1870, when it was made the capital. The United States Government has constructed a series of locks on the Kanawha, which, with a navigable depth of six feet, affords an excellent waterway for the extensive coal and timber interests of the district. Good railway transportation also is provided by the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Kanawha Michigan (Ohio Central Lines) and the Charleston, Clendein & Sutton railways. The city is provided with electric and gas lights, natural gas, electric railway, good waterworks, 5 banks, first-class hotels, 2 hospitals, 2 daily and 1 weekly newspapers. Its streets are broad, brick paved and lined with shade trees. Iron bridges span its rivers. Handsome residences, business houses and public buildings add much to the city's attractions. The capitol and its annex represent an expenditure of $450,000, the federal building $200,000 and the county court house $150,000. The manufacturing interests of the city comprise several foundries and machine shops, saw mills, furniture factories, etc., veneer factories, handle factory, folding bed factory, color works, carriage works, two ice plants, etc. Two telephone systems are in

CHARLES TOWN.

An incorporated town of 3,000 inhabitants, located on the B & O R R and N & W Ry, in Jefferson county, of which it is the county seat, 10 miles from Harper's Ferry, 66 from Washington, 90 from Baltimore, and 300 from Wheeling. The town was laid out by Charles Washington, brother of General Washington, in 1786, and is located in one of the most beautiful and fertile sections of the State. The town has gas and electric light plants and water works. The social, religious and educational advantages are of the best. The Powhatan College for girls and young ladies, and the John Stephenson Female Seminary are located here. It has churches of Baptist, Catholic, Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian denominations. The business interests include 3 banks, 3 hotels, one of which is only open in the summer months, 5 building associations, 3 newspapers, Farmers' Advocate, Spirit of Jefferson and Virginia Free Press; bridge works, planing mill, sash and blind factory, foundry, machine shops, grain elevators, a flour mill, carriage works, barrel factory, brass and iron works, harness and fly net factory, etc. The town's contiguity to raw materials and also to the Eastern markets make it a favorable location for manufactories. Telephone connection. Exp., Southern and U. S. Tel., W. U. Louis D Getzendanner postmaster.

CLARINGTON.

A station on the Ohio River division of the B & O R R, in Marshall county, 27 miles south of Wheeling.

CLARKSBURG.

Population 12,500. The county seat of Harrison county, has a picturesque location on the west fork of the Monongahela river, and rests upon fertile soil beneath which is a large and fine area of coking, gas and steam coal. With geographical location in its favor, the advantages of an unlimited supply of coal, oil, gas and timber, plenty of energetic business men and railroads to all points, Clarksburg is to-day one of the foremost growing towns of the Mountain State, and all indications point to its becoming one of the leading manufacturing towns of the state. Settlements were established in the neighborhood of the present site of Clarksburg as early as 1772. The county of Harrison was established in 1784, and Clarksburg was selected as the county seat. Clarksburg was named after General George Rogers Clark, and was probably known by that name about the year 1778. The first great impetus given to the town was in 1856, when the railroad, now known as the B & O was constructed. Since than it has grown, and within the last few years taken the rank of a city. Clarksburg is the gateway to the famous hardwood area of West Virginia and is reached by rail in all directions, by the main line of the B & O, and its branches—one line running north to Fairmont, one south to Weston, to Camden-on-Gauley, with another branch from near Weston to Buckhannon, and the short line recently completed between Clarksburg and New Martinsville, to connect there with the Ohio River branch. On the branch road to Fairmont, 33 miles distant, there are about 30 coal mining industries. West of Clarksburg, on the main line of the B & O are the oil developments. With the oil, gas is found in great quantities, and is utilized for fuel and lighting purposes in the private residences and the mercantile and manufacturing enterprises in the city. On account of the inexhaustible mineral resources that surround the city and their cheapness Clarksburg's pre-eminence as a suitable location for extensive manufactories is recognized and appreciated. Harrison county ranks first among 55 counties of the State. The county comprises 264,258 acres of land, having a value of over $5,000,000, and a population of over 75,000. The county raises more horses and more cattle than any county in the State, also the value in farm products is greatly in excess of the other counties. The Pittsburg coal seam extends underneath almost the entire area of the county, cropping out on precipitous sides of the hills in veins of seven to nine feet and six inches in thickness. The discovery of large pools of oil in Harrison county dates from a more recent time than the beginning of the coal mining industry. It has only been within the last few years that the oil development has been extensive, and it is hard to imagine the possibilities that abound here. Real estate values, like everything else, have kept pace with the growth of the city, and city and suburban properties are in steady and increasing demand. Grasselli Chemical Company, employing about 1,200 men, is located about 2½ miles from Clarksburg on an extension of the B & O R R, also reached by electric cars from the city. A new stone jail has lately been erected at a cost of $100,000, and is one of the handsomest and most substantial in the State. Clarksburg has 3 wholesale grocery houses, a wholesale dry goods and notions house, wholesale boot and shoe house, a wholesale hardware house, 4 glass factories, 4 brick manufactories, a large tinplate and sheet metal concern, employing 400 men, several flour mills, one with a capacity of 200 barrels per day, a grain elevator with a capacity of 80,000 bushels, 3 artificial ice plants, 2 bottling works, several large machine shops, planing mills, oil well supply factories, candy factory, wagon manufactories, etc., etc. Has 7 substantial banks, 9 churches, 4 excellent school buildings, 2 business colleges, 1 classical and scientific institute, 1 Catholic convent, 2 daily and 4 weekly newspapers, 2 hospitals, 2 telephone exchanges, a street car line, natural and artificial gas, electric light, water works, an $85,000 county court house, a $100,000 U. S. court house and postoffice, $125,000 hotel and opera house, a new 7-story hotel, 26 passenger trains daily, is the gateway to the New South and the home of progressive, prosperous and peaceable people. ELKINS.

The county seat of Randolph county, named in honor of Hon. S B Elkins, U S senator from West Virginia, is located on the W Va C & P Ry, 113 miles from Cumberland and 7 from Beverly. The town was founded in April, 1889. Its present population, which is steadily increasing, is about 3,500. The railroad extends to Huttonville, 18 miles distant. A branch extension of the road southwest from Elkins to connect with the C & O Ry now being built to the forks of the Greenbrier river in Pocahontas county has been completed and opens up a virgin region of lumber, coal and minerals, and gives a direct connection with Pittsburg and the leading markets of the East and West. The other branch runs northwest to Belington, Barbour county, connecting with the Grafton & Belington road, giving an outlet to Pittsburg, Cincinnati and the West. Elkins is blessed with superior advantages, its inexhaustible supply of coal, its forests and excellent transportation facilities combine to make it a mining and manufacturing city that defies competition. The trout-filled streams and forests alive with wild turkey, bear and deer, attract sportsmen, its picturesque scenery attracts the artist, while the pure water and crisp mountain air induce the health seeker to visit this city of the Alleghenies. Three weekly newspapers are published, Tygart's Valley News, the Inter-Mountain and the Randolph Enterprise, and The Mystic Tie, a fraternal monthly, being the only Masonic paper published in the state. There is a good hotel, modern opera house, with a seating capacity of 700, the largest tannery in the state, and numerous other manufactories. The Davis Memorial Hospital, supplied with the most modern equipment, has just been opened for the reception of patients. Telephone connection. Exp, Adams. Tel, W Va Central. FAIRMONT.

The county seat of Marion county, is the most important commercial city on the B & O R R between Wheeling and Cumberland, and is now enjoying a phenomenal growth. The estimated population is near 10,000. The main line and branches of the B & O R R center here from four directions and a short line is being built which will open up a new and extensive coal field. The U S Government is spending $1,200,000 for the improvement of the Monongahela river between Morgantown and Fairmont, which, when completed, will give a navigable stage of water at all seasons of the year and make it the head of Monongahela river navigation. The Fairmont coal region, of which Fairmont is the center, is recognized as the greatest region in the state and rivals the other great fields of the country; over 12,500 miners are employed in this region, and the average number of cars of coal shipped each month is over 10,000. The mining interests of West Virginia are mostly controlled by combinations. The strongest combination of coal properties is that of the Fairmont Coal Company, with a capital of $12,000,000 and holdings of nearly every important mine in this region. This company owns and controls 40 modern coal and coke plants, with 60,000 acres of the choicest coal lands and 5,000 acres of surface. The annual output of the company is 6,000,000 tons of coal and they have employed 12,500 men. The company's monthly payroll amounts to $400,000, which is expended in a region with a radius of 25 miles of Fairmont.

The manufacturing industries are important and comprise 4 glass works, 3 foundries and machine shops, large brewery, planing mills, flour mills, carriage and wagon factories, wall plaster manufactory, woolen mill, candy factory, cigar factories, ice plant, brick yards, bottling works, etc. Special mention may be made of the Wagner-Palmros Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of mining machinery, the Fairmont Wall Plaster Co., Hammond Fire Brick Co., manufacturers of fire, paving and building brick, Hutchinson-Barns Brick Co, and the Fairmont Glass Works, owned and controlled by the National Glass Co. There are several wholesale houses located there, all doing a prosperous business.

The Fairmont & Clarksburg Traction Co is now operating street railway lines to Watson and Monongah and will shortly have a line completed through to Clarksburg, a distance of 30 miles: the same company owns and operates the electric light and power plant. A new court house costing $200,000, and a $40,000 opera house, with seating capacity of 1,500, having recently been completed, and other prominent buildings are the Fairmont State Normal School, State Miners' Hospital, new B & O depot, Cook Hospital (private), Skinners' Tavern—this is the celebrated "Wayside Inn" which, during the stage coach days was a famous resort. While the original tavern is standing, at the foot of the hill, at the end of the suspension bridge behind it, has grown a modern five-story building, a monument to landlord Ben Williams' pluck and energy—the city supports seven other hotels, among which we mention The Manley Hotel, opposite the Court House. Many new and substantial business blocks are being erected, and in the residence portion of the city houses cannot be built fast enough to supply the demand. The city has 7 banks, 13 churches, substantial school buildings, 4 weekly and 1 daily newspaper, electric lights, water works, natural gas, 2 telephone exchanges, several miles of brick paved streets, an efficient fire department and many fine business blocks and residences. Palentine, now the first ward, is connected with the other wards of the city by a fine suspension bridge built at a cost of $30,000.

The shipments consist of coal, coke, stone, glass, brick, wall plaster, beer, mining machinery, live stock, small fruit, grain, etc.

and from the high pressure gives the town an elegant fire protection, has an opera house seating 1,000, 2 telephone systems, first class hotels, 4 banks, a weekly newspaper, the Leader, and a daily, the Sentinel; a job printing establishment, 5 school buildings and 10 churches. The principal manufactories are 4 planing mills, artificial ice plant, large glass plant, 2 foundries, a flour mill, 2 feed mills, pump factory and cigar factories. It has 2 wholesale groceries, and the B & O machine shops located here give employment to over 600 men. The streets in the business portion of the town are paved with brick and there is a splendid sewerage system. The city, through its Board of Trade, offers free manufacturing sites. It has a daily free mail delivery. The town on the west side of the river, formerly known as West Grafton, was joined to Grafton in the spring of 1897, and the towns of Fetterman and Beaumont have recently been annexed. Wood-Working Plants will find Huntington the most advantageous point in the East for location, commanding, as it does, the wealth of the forests of Southern West Virginia and Kentucky. Cheapest fuel of any city in the country—coal and natural gas; splendid sites, with switching facilities for rail and river shipment, and excellent labor conditions. For particulars as to free sites, etc., address THE HUNTINGTON LAND COMPANY.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Ry and the Ohio River division of the B & O R R pass through the city and connect with the great trunk line of the N & W Ry at Kenova, 8 miles below. Pittsburg and Cincinnati river packets stop daily, while a great river traffic is carried on by local boats. The shops of the C & O Ry and the American Car & Foundry Co, employing in the aggregate more than 3,000 men, are located here. Among other industries are numerous planing mills, foundries, excelsior, furniture, plaster and ice factories, also the largest copying house, frame and handle factories in the country. Huntington is the northern terminus of the Camden Inter-State Electric Ry, one of the finest and best equipped roads of modern times. The city is well laid out, with wide and well paved streets, and its public and private buildings much above the average. A new court house has just been completed, a structure costing over $100,000, with all modern conveniences and up-to-date furnishings; also the new Carnegie Library at a cost of $50,000. The West Virginia Home for Incurables, a state institution, now in operation, is located within the city limits, upon a delightful elevation, and is destined to become one or the greatest institutions of its kind. Marshall College State Normal School has recently been enlarged and now has an attendance of over 700 students. The city is well provided with fine churches, first-class hotels, five banks, two daily papers, and with all telegraph and telephone facilities. The streets are lighted with electricity, and the city is well protected by organized fire companies and an electric fire alarm

KEYSER.

Population, about 3,000. Located at the junction of New creek and the north branch of the Potomac river, the latter affording some water power, and on the B & O and W Va C & P Rys, in Mineral county, of which it is the county seat, 23 miles west of Cumberland Md, 180 southeast of Wheeling, 183 east of Parkersburg and 215 west of Baltimore. Has large B & O repair shops, a furniture factory, flouring mill, a high and graded public schools, white and colored Methodist Episcopal and Methodist Episcopal South, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic churches, and 2 weekly newspapers —the Tribune and the Mountain Echo, 3 hotels, 2 banks, and electric lights. A large worsted mill has recently been erected. Coal is mined in the vicinity. One of the best systems of water works in the country has recently been installed, the supply being drawn from a never failing spring of the purest mountain water. The fall of 299 feet gives it a pressure of 126 pounds to the square inch, making it a first-class fire protection and power for light manufacturing. Telephone connection. Stage line daily to Petersburg and Moorefield, fare $3. Exp, Adams and MANNINGTON.

Population, 5,000. Chartered as a city January, 1901, is located on the main line of the B & O R R, 60 miles east of Wheeling, in the heart of the coal, oil and natural gas fields of West Virginia, in the west central part of Marion county. It has about 4 miles of paved streets, and the finest buildings of any city in the state, not aided by government or county funds. It is thoroughly drained by a modern sewer system, has a fine water plant for fire and domestic use, owned by the city, and this is supplemented by four fire companies. The people are employed chiefly in the oil and kindred industries, but its manufacturing interests are equal to any city of the size in the state. They comprise 2 large boiler and machine works, a large tannery, 2 glass works, milk bottle and window glass manufactories, 2 drilling tool works, 2 flouring mills, 2 planing mills, and oil well fishing tool concern, repair, tool and boiler factory, extensive shops for the South Penn Oil Co, torpedo shell manufactory, and numerous others of minor importance. The largest marble and granite works in the state is located here; 1 daily and 2 weekly newspapers and 1 monthly church magazine are published. Mannington boasts of three prosperous banks, occupying modern buildings. It has an opera house with a seating capacity of 800, and the largest and most costly school building in West Virginia, erected at an expense of $80,000, besides gymnasium and chapel. One of the largest potteries in the United States is now being built. Its mercantile houses rank in quality with any in the state, and above the average. It has two good hotels. The Hotel Bartlett, one of the best known hostelries in the state, is largely patronized by the traveling community. The postoffice is rapidly approaching the free delivery class, and four rural free delivery routes have been established. The city is well lighted by natural gas and electricity. But above all Mannington's natural advantages as a manufacturing city and a home city are bringing it prosperity. Broad level bottom land adjacent to the city, reserved as free sites for manufactories, the soil underlaid with from 17 to 20 feet of marketable coal, including the famous 10-foot vein of Pittsburg steam and coking coal, an excellent shipping point, and best and most inexhaustible gas supply in the world. It also has a rich farming community surrounding the city. Its healthy location, excellent schools and churches, are bringing hundreds here for homes. Telephone connection is afforded by the Bell and Consolidated Telephone Companies. Tel. W U. Exp. U S. John O Huey postmaster.

MARTINSBURG.

Population, 10,000. The metropolis of the famous Shenandoah Valley and the county seat of Berkeley county, is located on the B & O and C V R Rs, both affording an outlet to the markets of the north, south, east and west. Washington can be reached in 2 hours, Baltimore in 3 hours and Philadelphia and New York in 5 and 7 hours respectively. The city is one of the most beautiful in the state, with its wide streets and avenues built on either side with splendid blocks of business houses and residences. It is supplied with water by the Holly system from a boiling spring of perfectly pure water capable of supplying a population of 35,000. The public school system ranks among the best in the state and all the principal religious denominations have good churches, which are well supported. The press is represented by the daily and semi-weekly World (Ind.), the weekly Statesman (Dem.), and the Herald (Rep.), the Democrat and the Pioneer Press, published weekly. The postoffice and United States court house, one of the finest in the state, was recently completed at a cost of $150,000. The round houses and machine shops of the B & O R R are located here. This is an important manufacturing point, having within its boundaries the largest distillery in West Virginia, with a mash capacity of 750 bushels per day, hosiery mills, with a capacity of four million pairs of hosiery per year, canning factory and ice plant, brass foundry, boiler works, three large flour mills, carriage and wagon works, grain elevators and lumber yards, and a large woolen mill and pants factory. The city is surrounded by a rich agricultural region, producing grain and fruits of every description in abundance. This county produces more fruit of all kinds than any other county in the state, and this, with the wealth of timber, coal, iron, limestone, clays, its healthful climate and excellent transportation facilities make it one of the most inviting localities in the state. The most liberal inducements are held out to the capitalist and manufacturer through the efforts of a wide-awake board of trade. Exp. American, Adams and U S. Tel, W U. Alex Clohan postmaster.

MORGANTOWN.

With a population of about 11,000, is 102 miles south of Pittsburg, on the Monongahela river, at the head of slackwater navigation, and on the line of the Fairmont branch of the B. & O R R, over which through trains are now run from Pittsburg to Weston. The Wabash R R has secured the right of way into the city and has over 2,000 men working in the county. It is the county seat, the seat of the State University and within the past three years has developed into one of the most thriving manufacturing cities in the state. In February, 1901, the several boroughs forming the town were incorporated into one municipality with a city charter. Slackwater navigation is being extended from here to Fairmont by the construction of 6 locks and dams. The government appropriation of $1,200,000 for the improvement of navigation on the Monongahela will soon make it possible to run large boats from Pittsburg to Fairmont via Morgantown, practically all the year round. Penetrating the country east of the city, which section is rich in timber coal, fireclay, limestone, sandstone, glass sand and other minerals, is the Morgantown and Kingwood railroad, which is to connect this city with Kingwood, 26 miles east, the county seat of Preston county. miles are already completed and in operation. It has already opened up one of the richest portions of the State. On the west side of the river the New York and West Virginia Coal & Coke Co have surveyed the Monongalia and Cassville railroad, connecting Morgantown with the entrance to the vast field of bituminous coal underlying all the western portion of the county in seams from 7 to 11 feet thick. A railroad is also projected up Booth's creek to a point 6 miles south of the city, to develop the Freeport vein of coal, large areas of which have just been bought up by capitalists. Natural gas is abundant within a few miles of the city.

Two gas companies already have franchises to enter the streets and supply gas for fuel and lights. This cheap fuel makes Morgantown an admirable site for manufacturing plants, many of which are locating here. Two large blown glass factories, employing 600 people, are already in operation, a wire glass factory and a factory for the manufacture of finest cut glass is located here. There is a woolen factory, 6 planing mills, 4 banks—two of them national banks — a trust company, 10 churches, a fine new High School building, furniture factories, cigar factories, flouring mills, brick works, employing about 40 men; publishing house, employing 23 people, 3 weekly newspapers, 2 dailies, 1 monthly, 3 newspaper and job offices. Water works are owned by a private corporation and supply the city with an abundance of water from the Monongahela river. The city is lighted by natural gas and electricity and has several miles of electric street railroad. The Court House was erected in 1892 at a cost of $100,000. No city in the county or State the size of Morgantown can show so large a proportion of well built homes.

South Park, just across Decker's creek, is one of the new and well-located residence suburbs. Many streets in the city are graded and paved, and more paving is being done continually. The State University, with its 800 students, is the pride of the city and one of its chief attractions as a place for homes, and the education of youth. Ten commodious buildings adorn the University campus. About 25 acres are included in the grounds. Three new buildings are just being completed at a cost of about $150,000. There is a faculty of 50 members and departments of arts and sciences, law, music, painting and fine arts and a military school in command of an army officer detailed from the United States army. The West Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station, with a staff of 15 specialists is connected with the University. It contains the chemical laboratory of the State geological survey, the principal office of which, and the State geologist, are both located in Morgantown. Practically all the fraternal insurance companies and social orders in the United States are represented here. The Odd Fellows own a large hall built of red brick. A line of steamboats furnishes cheap transportation by water from here to Pittsburg. Morgantown is on the line of the proposed Pittsburg, McKeesport, Fairchance and Clarksburg electric road, which is projected from Pittsburg to Fairchance, and eventually to Fairmont and Clarksburg. This would connect it by rail with the famous resorts on Cheat river in the mountains, 7 miles east of here, which are annually visited by thousands of people. Exp, U S. Tel, W U. BLANK BOOKS

MADE TO ORDER

THIS plant has been built up by giving satisfaction to our customers. One of our growing enterprises is the manufacture of Blank Books ruled and printed to special order. We make blank books for Coal Companies, Department Stores, Corporations, County Clerks, Circuit Clerks, Railroads and others. The work turned out by this concern is the "dollar-back" kind. If not satisfactory you need not pay for it. Every kind of commercial printing done in a first class manner. Let us hear from you. Let us estimate on your work. Let us do your work.

Catalog, Booklet and Book Work Done in a First Class Manner.
